“FIRE MARSHAL ACT”

HIS HONOUR the Lieutenant-Governor in Council has been pleased to order that the Regulations Governing the Sale, Installation, Maintenance, and Use of Compressed-gas Systems, made pursuant to the “Fire Marshal Act” by Order in Council No. 702 of 1934, be repealed:

And that, pursuant to the “Fire Marshal Act,” being chapter 124 of the “Revised Statutes of British Columbia, 1948,” the following regulations be approved:—

REGULATIONS GOVERNING THE SALE,
INSTALLATION, MAINTENANCE, CAR-
RIAGE, AND USE OF COMPRESSED-GAS SYSTEMS.

(Pursuant to the “Fire Marshal Act”)

Interpretation

1. In these regulations, unless the context otherwise requires:—
- “Approved” means approved or of a make or standard approved by the Fire Marshal:
- “Compressed gas” means and includes any material which is composed predominantly of any of the following hydrocarbons or mixtures of them: Propane, propylene, butanes (normal butane or iso-butane), and butylenes, used for heating, lighting, fuel, or culinary purposes or any other domestic or industrial use:
- “Compressed-gas system” means the cylinders, piping, connections, and apparatus assembled in a system used or designed for use in the storage of gas under pressure for culinary purposes, or for the heating or lighting of any building or part of a building, or for industrial purposes:
- “Cylinder” means any container in which gas is stored under pressure for use in a compressed-gas system:
- “Officer” means the Fire Marshal, or any person on the staff of the Fire Marshal’s office, or any Local Assistant to the Fire Marshal constituted or appointed under section 6 of the “Fire Marshal Act,” or any officer appointed by a Municipal Council to exercise the powers vested in an officer under these regulations.

PART I.

2. Application.—This Part shall apply to the sale, installation, maintenance, and use of compressed-gas systems, including the handling and storage of charged and discharged cylinders and other equipment used in connection with compressed-gas systems; but shall not apply in respect of any building or plant devoted to the manufacture and compression of gas for use in compressed-gas systems, nor in respect of any compressed-gas system using acetylene gas.

3. Approval Necessary.—After the first day of July, 1934, no person shall sell, offer for sale, or install any compressed-gas system unless the same has been approved. No person shall operate or use any compressed-gas system which is installed after the first day of July, 1934, unless the same has been installed in compliance with these regulations.

4. Approval by Fire Marshal.—It shall be the duty of every dealer, before offering for sale or selling a compressed-gas system that has not been approved by the Fire Marshal, to obtain approval thereof, and for that purpose to file with the Fire Marshal a statement showing the name and address of the manufacturer and the trade-name of the system, together with a certificate of approval if any has been obtained from an authority acceptable to the Fire Marshal, and any other information the Fire Marshal may require. It shall also be the duty of every person selling or installing a compressed-gas system to see that there is securely attached to the assembled system a permanent marker showing the name of the manufacturer and the trade-name of the system.

5. Permit to Install.—No compressed-gas system shall be installed without first obtaining a permit in writing from an officer. Every application for such permit shall be in writing and shall show the trade-name of the system and the name and qualification of the person installing it.

6. Installation and Instruction.—All installations of compressed-gas systems shall be made by the dealer or a competent person appointed by him. A complete service manual shall be supplied by the dealer to all persons servicing or replenishing the supply of gas to these systems. Printed instructions for the operation and maintenance of the system shall also be supplied by the dealer. These instructions shall be printed in legible type, and shall be kept so as to be easily accessible for reference by the person operating the system.

Cylinders and Equipment

7. Approved Cylinders.—Only cylinders which are acceptable for railway transportation by freight, and which have been tested and marked to the effect that they comply with the specifications and regulations of the Board of Railway Commissioners of Canada respecting the use of cylinders for the shipment of compressed gases, shall be approved for use in any compressed-gas system.

8. Location.—The cylinders in use for domestic purposes, together with the regulating equipment therefor, shall be installed outside any building in accordance with the following table:—

Water Capacity per Container	Mini- mum Under- ground	Distance Above Ground	Distance between Above- ground Con- tainers
	Feet	Feet	Feet
Less than 100 gallons .....	10	0	0
100 to 400 gallons .....	10	10	3
401 to 1,000 gallons .....	25	25	3
Over 1,000 gallons .....	50	50	5

Cylinders shall be installed in such a manner that the discharge from the relief-valves shall be not less than five feet from any opening in a building below the level of the discharge; but if this is not practicable, the Fire Marshal on request, in writing, may permit the installation to be made otherwise. Cylinders which cannot contain more than thirty pounds of compressed gas, and which are equipped with special approved fittings, may be attached to the building. Cylinders which can contain more than thirty pounds of compressed gas shall be set on a firm foundation; but if this is not practicable, the Fire Marshal may permit the installation of the cylinders with the use of special fittings and flexible couplings.

9. Storage of Extra Cylinders.—All extra cylinders shall be stored in a properly ventilated cabinet located outside the building containing the burners, or otherwise stored where they are protected from extreme heat and from any accumulation of ice or snow. No open lights or fires and no accumulation of rubbish or easily combustible material shall be allowed within ten feet of any cylinder. Where cylinders (whether charged or discharged) are not in use, all outlet-valves shall be kept tightly closed. Cylinders shall be protected at all times against mechanical injury and from being tampered with.

10. Tanks Serviced by Daylight or Properly Equipped Electric Lights.—The charging or changing of cylinders shall be done only by daylight or by the light of an incandescent electric lamp equipped with a vapour-proof glove and a guard. No artificial light other than the vapour-proof guarded incandescent electric lamp shall be permitted within ten feet of any cylinder containing compressed gas. Electrical equipment, such as switches and other apparatus that may cause sparking, shall not be located in the vicinity of any cylinder or regulating-valve.

11. Motors to Be Stopped during Charging.—Where cylinders are charged by means of an automobile tank-truck, the engine of the truck shall be stopped previous to any connections to the cylinders being made, and shall not be started until the charging is completed and the tank of the truck disconnected from the cylinders.

12. Valves.—All valves incorporated in a compressed-gas system shall be of an approved type, and every system shall be supplied with adequate means for shutting off the gas-supply to the building containing the burners. The valves in the assembly of multiple-cylinder systems shall be arranged so that a change of cylinders may be made without shutting down the system.

13. Piping.—All piping for conveying compressed gas in a gaseous state to the building containing the burners and to all gas-burning appliances shall be standard full-weight wrought iron, steel, brass, or copper pipe, or approved seamless copper, brass, or other non-ferrous tubing. All pipe-lines leading from the regulator to the burners shall be proven free from leaks by being tested at not less than the maximum working-pressure as determined by the regulator setting.

14. Testing of Piping.—In compressed-gas systems of a type in which compressed gas in a liquid form enters the building containing the burners, only heavy-walled seamless brass or copper tubing shall be used for conveying the compressed gas. The internal diameter of this tubing shall not be greater than three-thirty-seconds of an inch nor less than three-sixty-fourths of an inch. The lines of tubing shall be as short as possible, and shall be so attached and protected as to avoid injury. The lines of tubing shall be proven free from leaks by being tested at an air-pressure of not less than fifty pounds to the square inch for five minutes without showing any leakage. This test shall be made after all connections have been made.

PART II

Carriage of Compressed Gas

15. Application.—This Part shall apply to containers and pertinent equipment mounted on vehicles used for the transportation of compressed gas. Containers and pertinent equipment for vehicles used for the transportation of compressed gas, in addition to complying with the requirements of these regulations, shall also comply with the requirements of the Board of Transport Commissioners for Canada and those of any other regulatory body which may apply.

16. Design Working-pressure and Classification of Containers.—Containers shall be of a type approved by the Fire Marshal, provided that the shell or head thickness of any container shall be not less than three-sixteenths inch.

17. Container Valves and Accessories.—(a) All valves shall be safeguarded against mechanical injury due to collision, overturning, or other emergency.

(b) Filling-connections shall be provided with approved automatic back-pressure check-valves, excess-flow check-valves, or quick-closing internal valves to prevent excessive escape of gas in case the filling-connection is broken, except that where the filling and discharge connect on a common opening in the container-shell and this opening is fitted with a quick-closing internal valve, the automatic valve shall not be required. In addition, every inlet and outlet connection shall be equipped with a manually or automatically operated shut-off valve.

(c) All other connections to containers, except safety relief and liquid-level gauge connections, shall be provided with suitable automatic excess-flow valves, or in lieu thereof may be fitted with quick-closing internal valves, which, except during delivery operations, shall remain closed. The control mechanism for such valves may be provided with a secondary control remote from the delivery connections, and such control mechanism shall be provided with a fusible section (melting-point not over 220° F.) which will cause the internal valve to close automatically in case of fire.

(d) All container inlets and outlets, except safety relief-valves, liquid-level gauging devices, and pressure-gauges, shall be labelled to designate whether they communicate with vapour or liquid space. Labels may be on valves.

(e) Each container shall be equipped with a suitable pressure-gauge.

18. Piping and Fittings.—(a) All piping, tubing, and fittings shall be securely mounted and protected against damage and breakage.

(b) All ferrous threaded fittings and threaded pipe shall be designed for a minimum working-pressure of 250 p.s.i.g.

19. Safety Devices.—(a) The discharge from safety relief-valves shall be vented away from the container upward and unobstructed to the open air in such a manner as to prevent any impingement of escaping gas upon the container. Loose-fitting rain-caps shall be used. Size of discharge-lines from safety relief-valves shall not be smaller than the nominal size of the relief-valve outlet connection. Suitable provision shall be made for draining condensate which may accumulate in the discharge-pipe.

(b) Any portion of piping between tank and pump inlet or any wet hose which at any time may be closed at each end shall be provided with relief-valve to prevent excessive pressure developing.

(c) If tank filling-connections are located at a distance of more than twenty feet from the truck, the pump discharge shall be provided with an excess-flow valve to prevent escape of liquid in the event of hose or connection failure beyond the pump.

20. Vehicle Fuel Systems.—Where compressed gas is used in the engine of the vehicle used for the carriage of compressed gas, the fuel system must be of a type approved by the Fire Marshal.

21. Transfer of Liquids.—(a) Vehicle containers shall be loaded by weight, by meter, or by approved liquid-level gauging device.

(b) Pumps or compressors shall be designed for use with compressed gas. They shall be properly protected and may be mounted upon compressed-gas tank vehicles and may be driven by the vehicle power take-off or internal-combustion engine, hand, mechanical, hydraulic, or electrical means. On electrical means of pumping the electrical installation shall be in accordance with the requirements of the Canadian Standards Association or any regulatory body which may apply. The pumps, except constant-speed centrifugal pumps, shall be equipped with suitable pressure-actuated by-pass valves, permitting flow from pump discharge to pump suction or back to container when the pump discharge pressure rises above a predetermined point. Pump discharge from positive displacement pumps shall also be equipped with a spring-loaded safety-valve of non-leaking type, set at a pressure not to exceed thirty-five per cent higher than the predetermined setting of the by-pass valve.

22. Mounting Containers on Vehicle.—(a) Suitable "stop" or "stops" shall be mounted on the vehicle or on the container, in such a way that the container shall not be dislodged from its mounting due to the vehicle coming to a sudden stop. Back slippage shall also be prevented by proper methods.

(b) A suitable "hold-down" device shall be provided which will anchor the container, at one or more places on each side of the container, to the vehicle-frame so as to minimize loosening due to vibration.

23. Electrical Equipment and Lighting.—No vehicle used for the purpose of transporting compressed gas shall be equipped with any artificial light other than electricity. Lighting circuits shall have suitable over-current protection (fuses or automatic circuit-breakers). The wiring shall have sufficient carrying capacity and mechanical strength, and shall be suitably secured, insulated, and protected against physical damage.

24. Trailers and Semi-trailers.—(a) All trailers shall be firmly and securely attached to the vehicle drawing them by means of suitable draw-bars, supplemented by safety-chains.

(b) Every trailer or semi-trailer shall be equipped with a reliable system of brakes, and adequate provision shall be made for its efficient operation from the driver's seat of the vehicle drawing the trailer or semi-trailer.

(c) Every trailer or semi-trailer shall be provided with side-lights and a tail-light.

(d) Four-wheeled trailers shall be of a type of construction which will prevent the towed vehicle from whipping or swerving dangerously from side to side and will cause it to follow substantially in the path of the towing vehicle.

(e) Where a fifth wheel is employed, it shall be ruggedly designed, securely fastened to both units, and equipped with a positive locking mechanism which will prevent separation of the two units except by manual release.

25. Metallic Connections.—Tank, chassis, axles, and springs shall have metal connections.

26. Exhaust System.—(a) The exhaust system, including muffler and exhaust-line, shall have ample clearance from the fuel system and combustible materials. Truck muffler and exhaust-pipe shall be placed as far as practicable from any tank valves, pumps, or piping.

(b) Muffler cut-out shall not be used.

27. Extinguishers Required.—Each vehicle shall be provided with at least one approved hand fire-extinguisher of a type suitable for gas fires. Extinguishers of the dry chemical or carbon-dioxide type are suitable. Extinguishers should have a net content of not less than fifteen pounds.

28. Smoking Prohibited.—No person shall smoke or allow any open flame or burning material to be within twenty-five feet of any vehicle used for the transport of compressed gas.

29. Truck Not to Be Left Unattended.—The operator of any vehicle used for the carriage of compressed gas shall not leave the said vehicle unattended while it is being filled or discharged. Delivery-hose shall be deemed to be a part of the vehicle. No vehicle, whether full, partially full, or empty, and no vehicle upon or in which is carried any compressed gas other than the compressed gas had or kept in the supply-tank of the vehicle, shall at any time be left unattended by the driver or operator thereof, except when parked in a parking space specially provided for that purpose and approved by an officer.

30. Stopping of Motors.—The motors of such vehicles shall be stopped during the entire process of loading and unloading, except that if the loading or unloading is done by power-pump on such vehicle the motor shall be stopped during the making and breaking of the hose connections.

31. Protection against Collision.—Each vehicle shall be provided with properly attached steel bumpers or chassis extension which shall be so arranged as to protect the vehicle in case of collision.

32. Chock Blocks.—Chock blocks shall be provided for the rear wheels and chained permanently to the vehicle. Such blocks shall be stored in suitable carriers when not in use. These blocks shall be placed at rear wheels to prevent rolling of the vehicle whenever it is parked, including loading and unloading operations.

33. Skid Tanks.—Skid tanks shall not be used in place of tank-trucks, tank-trailers, tank semi-trailers, or other vehicles for regular deliveries.

They shall be employed only where there is a necessity for their joint use as a transport and storage unit. Where skid tanks are used, they shall comply with all requirements of these regulations.

34. Tank-truck Repairs.—No repairs which require the application of heat shall be permitted on any tank-truck until a certificate from a pharmaceutical chemist licensed under the "Pharmacy Act" is furnished to an officer that said truck is free of all explosive and inflammable gases.

"LAND REGISTRY ACT"

HIS HONOUR the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, by Order in Council No. 465, dated February 26th, 1952, has been pleased to report that Her Majesty proposes to grant to Trans Mountain Oil Pipe Line Company, a company incorporated under the laws of Canada for construction and operating an oil pipe-line, inter alia, in the Province of British Columbia, hereinafter called "the Company," rights-of-way over Crown land for the purpose of its undertaking:

That the Company has represented that it will be necessary to register the title conferred by these grants under the provisions of the "Land Registry Act" for the protection of its interests therein and in order to satisfy counsel for the trustees for the bondholders of the validity of the Company's title thereto:

That the "Land Registry Act" permits registration of these estates only where the title of Her Majesty to the land comprised within the limits of the right-of-way is brought under the "Land Registry Act," and accordingly the Legislature has endowed the Lieutenant-Governor in Council with power to make regulations permitting and governing the registration of these estates in accordance with the provisions of section 257 (2) of the "Land Registry Act":

And that the Minister remarks that for the reasons stated it is desirable that regulations should be enacted permitting the registration of these estates under the provisions of the "Land Registry Act":
